12:00 Sunday Mass: Sunday, September 2, the Gregorian Mass was celebrated by Fr. Francisco Nahoe, O.F.M. Conv. Fr. Fr. Francisco preached a fascinating sermon on Jesus and the Pharisees and, of course, sang the Mass beautifully

Thomas House update:

August 4 dinner:

The 85 folks who trooped into the Thomas House on August 4 at 5:00 pm were treated to an evening of excellent cuisine, service and warm camaraderie. The Second Annual STA Italian Dinner was a jolly venue for showcasing the outstanding homemade pasta and polenta sauces crafted by Ted Baer and Rudy Bahr, the debut of handicapped table reservations on the main floor of the Thomas House, and the Italian décor staged by Christina Anaya. Anna Jaklitsch was in charge of gathering the antipasti ingredients and the spumoni ice cream for dessert. Helen Baumann sold tickets and Kay Williams did publicity. Bob Barron tended bar and provided his family members as servers.

The only hiccup was the number of no-shows, leaving the committee with an abundance of leftover bread-sticks, pasta and polenta and tomato sauces. A few canny folk brought their own containers to take food back to family members for whom tickets had been purchased but who could not attend. No spumoni was left, however!

Next year the committee hopes to increase actual attendance (or cook less food) and attract a larger clean-up committee!

Key Moments in the History of the Catholic Church, hosted by Fr. Matt Stanley; at St. Albert's Hospitality Room, 7-8:30 p.m.: The EPIC series continues with the true story of the Crusades. The discussion will start at 10:00 and last about one hour.

Thomas House Library:

On August 28 Philip Warman and Ted Baer worked at the TH library and had an inadequate "open" sign out front...literally, the opening of the Thomas House library. No one stopped in.

On August 30 Philip and Ted were again working from 11:30 -1:15 with a better sign out front. A couple in their mid-twenties came in and spent about 10 minutes learning about the library and browsing. Shortly after they left, a single woman, also probably in her mid-twenties, came by. She was very interested in the library too and pressed Ted for its hours, which had not been established at that point. Everyone took one of the catalogued list of holdings.

The library schedule is tentatively set for Thursdays from 11:30 till 1:00 or so. With a little more experience, Ted will begin searching for librarians/library attendants. Contact him if you can help: tabaer@sbcglobal.net, (650) 321-6179.
